Additional Display Options Available

Mont Quartz is partially produced from pure, natural stone (quartz). Variation in the quartz relative to color, pattern and shade are innate traits of this product. Samples are small cuts from the full slab and are not full representations of the actual material and may vary from production. Product will not be replaced as a result of these variations. Color blotches are intentional to augment the natural beauty. Mont Quartz is strong. However, stone can be damaged by blunt force which may cause chips particularly on the edges. No stone is scratch proof.
